STAN SMITH'S TENNIS CLASS

DIFFICULT VOLLEYS
High and low volleys are tough shots. On high volleys, don't break your wrist as you reach up to make contact. Keep your wrist firm.

On low volleys, make sure you keep the head of your racket above your wrist and open the racket face. This means you will have to bend your knees to get down to low balls. Don't take the lazy way out and just stick your racket down. Bend your knees!
